Allen Baranov is an Information Security Analyst for the South African Breweries Ltd. He started his career on the technical side with Unix and Firewall security and is now in charge of the Infrastructure Security of SAB's South African presence. He runs one of the very few Information Security blogs in South Africa called Security Thoughts which can be found at <http://securethink.blogspot.com>. Allen is very interested in the impact of new technologies and new ways of thinking such as the concept of Information-centric Security, a topic on which he presented at the ITWeb Security Conference this year. Allen has a wonderful wife and 3 lovely kids and he supports Arsenal FC.
